Saturday 2nd May Canterbury, City of Saints

There are more saints in Canterbury than meet the eye! Each one has a captivating story to tell and this walk through the city's streets will introduce you to the numerous saints who have been overshadowed for too long by the imposing figure of St. Thomas Becket, the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Meet: St. Dunstan's Church

Guide: Maureen Ingram

Saturday 6th June
Whitstable

Famous for its oysters since Roman times, Whitstable is steeped in maritime history and home to one of the oldest yacht clubs in the world as well the first passenger railway line. See the small streets dotted with art galleries, antique shops and quaint alley ways, old fishermen's cottages and the harbour. Suitable footwear for walking on the beach is recommended.

Meet: *The Library, Oxford St.

Guide: Frank Dowling

Saturday 4th July
Canterbury's
River

The River Stour flowed over the old Roman ford at "Tonford" to enter the city through a watergate below the Norman castle. Its flower-decked islands provided thirteenth century homes for both Dominican and Franciscan friars and later its several branches drove eight great corn mills within the city walls.

Meet: Canterbury Castle.

Guide: David Birmingham

Saturday 5th September
Made in Canterbury

Coin minting, gun powder, fine silks and cotton yarns, beer, flour, lamp posts, soaps and pottery: these are just some of the items produced in Canterbury on an industrial scale including the "World's First" Torpedo and Metal Fountain pen. All but gone, there are plenty of traces to be found on this city walk.
